If Buyer acts in breach of contract - in particular if it enters default of payment of a claim for payment - we shall have the right to take back the goods subject to retention of title following the setting of a reasonable grace period for performance. Buyer shall bear the transport costs incurred for the return. Taking back the goods subject to retention of title by us shall constitute withdrawal from the contract. It shall also constitute withdrawal from the contract if we seize the goods subject to retention of title. 5. However, if Buyer violates the contract - in particular if it defaults on payment of a claim to compensation - we may demand that Buyer informs us of the assigned claims and the respective debtors, notify the respective debtors of the assignment, and hand all documents over to us as well as provide us with all information we require to assert the claims.
6. Buyer also must not assign these claims in order to have them collected by way of factoring, except if it irrevocably obligates the factor to pay the compensation to us directly while we retain any claims against Buyer.

10. LIABILITY FOR DEFECTS

1. Buyer's claims for defects shall require that Buyer has properly met its legal obligations to inspect the goods and to give notice of defects. The delivered objects shall be carefully inspected without undue delay after delivery to Buyer or to the third party designated by it. They shall be deemed approved by Buyer concerning any obvious defects or other defects that would have been recognizable within the scope of careful examination without undue delay if we do not receive a written notification of defects within (seven) working days of delivery. Concerning any other defects, the delivery objects shall be deemed approved by Buyer if we do not receive any notice of defects within (seven) working days after the time at which the defect became apparent; however, if the defect was apparent at an earlier point already during regular use, that earlier point shall be decisive for commencement of the period for giving notice of defect. A rejected delivery object shall be returned to us carriage paid at our request. If the notice of defect is justified, we shall reimburse the costs of the most favorable shipping route; this shall not apply to any increase of costs because the delivery object is located at a place other than the place of intended use.
2. As far as there is a defect of material in the delivered objects, we shall have the right to subsequent performance within a reasonable period of time, at our discretion in the form of rectification of the defect or delivery of a new item free of defects. In case of rectification of the defect, we shall be obligated to bear any expenses necessary for the purpose of removing the defect, in particular transport, travel, labor, and material costs, as far as these are not increased because the purchased item has been moved to any location other than the place of performance.
3. Buyer shall grant us the reasonable time and opportunity required for subsequent performance. We shall not be liable for any resulting damage if Buyer does not comply with this obligation.
4. Buyer may claim damages under the terms set out in item 11 if a defect is due to our fault.
5. Buyer shall have the right to withdraw from the contract within the scope of the statutory provisions if we let a reasonable grace period set for us to remedy the defect expire fruitlessly - under consideration of the statutory exceptions. However, if there is only an insignificant defect that only insignificantly impairs usability of the delivery object, Buyer shall only be due a reasonable reduction of the contractual price.
6. The warranty shall not apply if Buyer modifies the delivery object or has it modified by a third party without our consent and this makes it impossible or unreasonably difficult to remedy the defect. Buyer shall bear any additional costs of remedying the defect resulting from the change in any case.
